The City Council agreed that the only way to pay for such project was to establish the City's own drainage district. The council instructed Brouillette to follow up with Dorsey and Whitney on establishing a TIF district to help pay for the infrastructure costs. If a lift station is to be installed, Steinhoff wanted to know where that would be located. Since the land is not yet purchased, Steinhoff agreed to sign a contract stating that he would reimburse the city for establishing TIF fees if the development did not occur. Brouillette will work with attorneys to draft up a contract to be approved at next council meeting. Another question for V&K was to find out if water pipe size would accommodate the new additions. Hinze will follow up with council on whether the housing will be "market value" or "affordable housing" as it makes a difference with how the TIF is set up.
